It is very hard to get a financial institution that can give such amounts of money in such short notice without lots and lots of scrutiny and conditions. Sometimes businesses do need such large amounts of cash in a short period of time but it becomes totally impossible for them to obtain the funds from the banks because banks do demand for collateral of an equal or greater value.

Seven days is quite a short period of time compared to how long it takes the banks to process loans. This is very advantageous to the beneficiary of the cash from merchant cash advance.

Merchant cash advance gives any amount of cash as loan and the fact that they can deliver the cash to ones account in 7 days is a very big factor. Most banks take up to 14 days yet business emergencies call for prompt cash.
